REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF NURSES TO THE RESIDENT PHYSICIAN.

In preparing my first report of the Training School of the Massachusetts General Hospital, I am conscious that the very recent date at which I have taken up the work makes it difficult to present a report as full, in all particulars, as I should wish.

Miss Dolliver retired on the first of September from the post she had so ably filled for over ten years. When one has put her whole heart and energy into the welfare of a school for so long a period the gap that is left takes time as well as good-will to fill, and, for a long time to come, Miss Dolliver will be sincerely missed and regretted by her pupils and those that worked with her.

I am fortunate in retaining as my first assistant, Miss A. McCrae, whose eight years of devoted service to the Training School and hospital have won her the confidence and respect of our large community. I fully appreciate that she has lightened immensely for me the labor of taking up a work so crowded with details and conflicting interests.

The past year has not, with the sole exception of the change of the Superintendent, been one of much change in the Training School.

The number of letters of inquiry for admission to the training school was seven hundred and ninety-five, from which forty were selected for admission as probationers and thirty-four have been retained as pupils after the probationary months.

At the present date the number of pupils in the different classes stands as follows:

Class graduating	1910	34
„	1911	34
„	1912	36
		104

Of the class of 1913, twenty have just entered on the probationary period.

The Children's Hospital continues to send us the pupils of their training school for four months during their third year. Their work is in the general adult wards, with a short term in the Out-Patient Female Medical Clinic.

Of the McLean Hospital graduates, eight have this year taken the thirteen months' course open to them in this hospital. Four are at present with us completing their course.

The New England Baptist Hospital, the Beverly Hospital, and the Peabody Hospital, also send their pupils, one at a time, for a term of two months, to our Out-Patient and Accident Department. Brockton Hospital has also sent us a senior pupil for a special term of four months, to gain experience in surgical, out-patient, and operative work.

The number of pupils from the outside working with us at the present date is as follows:

The Children's Hospital	6 pupils
McLean Hospital	4 graduates
New England Baptist Hospital	1 pupil
Beverly Hospital	1 „
Peabody Hospital	1 „
Brockton Hospital	1 „
	14

In addition, from September 1st to January 1st, we have taken four pupils from the Melrose Hospital, two at a time, for two months' work in the medical and surgical wards.

A certain proportion of our pupils are constantly absent for special work outside this hospital. At the present date the number so engaged is as follows:

Lying-in Hospital, New York	7
Lying-in Hospital, Boston	1
Corey Hill Private Hospital	3
District Visiting Nurses	2
Convalescent Hospital	1
Simmons College Course	8
	22

At a recent meeting of the Training School Committee, the question of lightening the hours on duty of the pupil nurses was discussed. At the same time was pointed out the importance of having a nursing staff large enough to supply the very active services in amphitheatre and Out-Patient Department without calling the ward nurses from their duties. It was also shown that with our present numbers it becomes almost impossible to give our own pupils the work of the nursing of special cases, thus putting the hospital to heavy expense for graduate nurses, and with a loss to the pupils of extremely valuable experience.

A recommendation was, in consequence, made to the Board of Trustees that, in order to meet these requirements, the number of pupils be increased by fifty-two and accommodation provided for the increase in numbers. The recommendation has been accepted and the numbers will be increased as soon as the necessary accommodation can be found.

In order that we may not have too large a proportion of probationers at one time, it is proposed for the present year, and until the increase in numbers is established, to give to a limited number of graduate nurses from other schools a post-graduate course of six months in general nursing.

During the past year the number of serious illnesses among the nurses has been less than the previous year. There have been in all:

Scarlet fever	3
Pneumonia	1
Operation for appendix	5

In conclusion, I should like to tender my very sincere thanks to the Administrative Staff, to the officers of the hospital, to the ladies of the Advisory Committee, and, not least, to the pupils and graduates of the school, who have all, by their courtesy and helpful kindness, made incalculably easier the burden of beginning what cannot but be an arduous work.

SURGICAL INSTRUCTION.

GIVEN BY ROBERT M. GREEN, M.D.

The surgical teaching covers the first two years of the course in the Training School. During the first year instruction is given in the following subjects :

Bandaging.
Anatomy.
Biology.
Bacteriology.
Pathology.

The method of instruction is by weekly lectures, at which the nurses are expected to take notes and of which they are required periodically to prepare abstracts, by demonstrations and recitations, and by assigned reading in a text-book.

The attempt is made to have the lectures simple and informal, to encourage the asking of questions by the class, to emphasize always the practical importance to surgical nursing of the subject under study.

There are two written examinations during the course.

BANDAGING.

The instruction is given to small sections of the class once a week. After consideration of the manufacture, economy, and indications for bandages, the fundamental figures of bandaging are taught, followed by detailed instruction in the common bandages used for the several regions of the body. By the use of artificial legs and of patients from the wards, each nurse has opportunity to apply the various bandages under the individual direction of the instructor. The application of swathes and the preparation of the ordinary splints is demonstrated by the instructor or by one of the head nurses.

ANATOMY.

The normal anatomy of the adult human body is considered under the following topics:

The skeleton (bones and joints).
Muscles, fascia, and skin (with its appendages).
The alimentary system.
The respiratory system.
The cardio-vascular and lymphatic systems.
The genito-urinary system.
The nervous system.
The organs of special sense.

In connection with the gross anatomy under each of these topics is taught the elementary histology of the tissues in question and the attempt is made to correlate this instruction with that given in physiology. Especial attention is paid to surface anatomy, not only to bony landmarks in relation to fractures and measurements but to the location of the large blood vessels with reference to the control of hemorrhage. The lectures are illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, microscopic sections, the manikin, fresh organs from autopsy, and demonstrations on the living subject. Particular emphasis is laid on the relations of the male and female pelvis with regard to the use of the catheter and the rectal tube. In general, the practical rather than the academic aspects of the subject are made prominent.

BIOLOGY.

The primary concepts of vegetable and animal life are briefly considered, and the relation of lower organisms to human disease. The cellular theory is explained, and the normal development of the human embryo outlined.

BACTERIOLOGY.

After a sketch of the development of the science of bacteriology and the enormous importance of its discoveries to medicine and surgery, the nature, action, and growth of bacteria are described and the methods of identifying and cultivating them studied. By means of material from the hospital laboratories are demonstrated the cultural and microscopic characteristics of all the common surgical bacteria, and in connection with each is taught the mode of action by which it produces disease.

Great emphasis is laid on the practical application of bacteriology to the treatment and the prevention of disease. The history and evolution of antisepsis and asepsis are sketched, methods of sterilization described at length, and the duties of a nurse at a surgical operation explained. Instruction is given in methods of avoiding infection, both for the nurse and for the patient, and in its prompt recognition and treatment. The elementary principles of immunity and of the use of bacterial vaccines are outlined.

PATHOLOGY.

In connection with the study of the various bacteria is taught the elementary pathology of the lesions produced by each. The nature of inflammation is explained, and the repair of tissues and the healing of wounds studied.

During the second year instruction is given in surgical anesthesia and in the surgical diseases. The method is similar to that of the first year — by weekly lectures, notes, abstracts, demonstrations, recitations, and two written examinations. Emphasis is laid on the practical application of the knowledge gained to the immediate care and subsequent nursing of surgical cases.

ANESTHESIA.

A lecture is given to the class on the fundamental principles of surgical anesthesia and the methods of its production. During the year each nurse then receives at least twice individual instruction in the actual administration of ether to patients for surgical operation, and is also taught the manufacture of cones and the care of ether patients.

SURGICAL DISEASE.

All the important surgical diseases are considered in detail, under the following groups:

Trauma.
Malformations.
Neoplasms.
Infections.

In the discussion of each disease are presented its causes, nature, symptoms, recognition, and immediate treatment. The subjects are abundantly illustrated by lantern slides, pathologic specimens, and patients from the wards. So far as possible the case method of teaching is employed. Attention is also paid to diseases on the border line between medicine and surgery. The aim is to familiarize the nurse with the common appearances of disease, to fit her by this knowledge to care intelligently for the sick, and to prepare her to act promptly and efficiently in emergencies.

MEDICAL INSTRUCTION.

GIVEN BY GEORGE S. C. BADGER, M.D.

The present method of teaching has been in force for several years, and is proving very satisfactory. The work is carried on as follows:

During the first five months physiology alone is taught by lectures and quizzes, supplemented with the use of the reflector-scope. A knowledge of the fundamentals of physiology is essential and must be acquired before other instruction can advantageously be given. A few nurses receive their instruction in physiology at Simmons College, but a proportion must receive it while giving their services in the wards. The latter are at a disadvantage because often too tired to give their concentrated attention to a lecture after a day's work. Following the course in physiology are two lectures on hygiene.

In the second half of the first year the nurses are taken into the medical wards in sections of twenty, where once a week for a year a medical clinic is held. These ward visits are by far the most interesting and profitable part of the course. In spite of the fact that the nurses are constantly with the patients, it is found that systematic instruction in the observation of patients and diseases and the results of treatment are very much needed and appreciated. Much time is devoted to diseases of the circulatory, respiratory, digestive, and excretory organs, and to typhoid fever. The subject matter of lectures is apt to be soon forgotten, while the mental pictures of actual disease conditions seen at the bedsides are retained. The progress of diseases is watched, the results of treatment noted.

The last half of the second year is taken up with lectures on therapeutics, and certain diseases not seen in the open wards, as the exanthemata and tuberculosis.

It is apparent with this system of instruction that the nurses have become better clinical observers and more intelligent and enthusiastic workers.

The outline of the two years' course is as follows :

First half of first year :

Physiology, fourteen lectures with demonstrations, quizzes, and examination.
Hygiene, two lectures.

Second half of first year and first half of second year :

Clinical medicine, ward visits.

Last half of second year :

THE MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses in Boston has made arrangements for giving a three years' course of training to women who desire to learn the art of nursing the sick.

Letters of application to the Superintendent of Nurses should contain a brief personal history, and should be accompanied by a statement from a physician testifying to sound health and unimpaired faculties. Applicants must be between twenty-one and thirty-five years of age, and of at least average height and weight.

A high school education or its equivalent is required, and applicants should be prepared to show school diplomas or certificates as an aid in determining the amount of education they have received.

The Resident Physician of the Hospital and the Superintendent of Nurses decide as to the acceptability of candidates. The class is formed during the spring and summer months, but application should be made at least six months in advance. If approved, applicants are received for a period of two months' probation, and during this time they should be prepared for an examination in reading, English dictation, and simple arithmetic. The Superintendent of the Training School will decide as to their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them.

Those who prove satisfactory are accepted, and become pupils of the school on signing an agreement to remain thirty-four months, after the period of probation, and to obey faithfully the rules of the Hospital and of the School.

During the first twelve months the record of the pupil is carefully considered, and if found unsatisfactory or unpromising, the pupil may be dropped from the School. The Superintendent of Nurses may, at any subsequent time, suspend, and with the approval of the Resident Physician and the Training School Committee, dismiss a pupil for misconduct, inefficiency, or neglect of duty.

Except under special circumstances, failure to pass the examinations will be sufficient cause for terminating a pupil's connection with the School.

Pupils reside in the Home, and act as assistants in the various departments of the Hospital. They are expected to perform any duty assigned them by the Superintendent of Nurses.

The hours of duty are from 7 A.M. to 7 P.M.

A vacation of three weeks is given each year.

In sickness, the pupils are cared for gratuitously, but all time so lost must be made up.

As the School is unsectarian, there are no religious services connected with it; but all pupils are expected to attend the places of worship they prefer once on Sunday.

An allowance of $6.00 per month, exclusive of the months of probation, is made to defray the necessary expenses of uniforms and text-books.

Pupils receive board, lodging, and a limited amount of laundry work.

Pupils should come prepared to pay at the close of the period of probation for their uniforms and text-books, the cost of which will not exceed fifteen dollars.

A regular course of lectures, recitations, and demonstrations is given, with examinations at stated periods. Instruction is also given at the bedside of patients by the visiting and resident physicians and surgeons.

The course includes three months' special training in obstetrics, three months in private nursing at the Corey Hill Hospital, Brookline, and one month district nursing with the Instructive District Nursing Association.

For those who desire it a preparatory course of four months is offered at Simmons College devoted to the study of the following subjects:

Household Arts.
Chemistry.
Bacteriology.
Anatomy.
Physiology.

When the full term of training is completed, after passing the examinations, the nurse receives the diploma of the School, and is at liberty to choose her own field of labor, either in hospital or district work, or in private families. As it is believed that an annual report of the addresses and positions of the graduates of the School will be for the advantage of the nurses as well as the School, the graduates are requested to send their addresses to the Superintendent of Nurses on or before December first of each year.

A graduate of this School who wishes to gain special proficiency in the care of nervous and mental cases has the privilege, under certain restrictions, of entering the McLean Hospital Training School for Nurses. Such graduates will, after one year's satisfactory study, receive the diploma from that School in addition to the one received from the Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses.

Personal application may be made to the Superintendent of the Training School, Wednesday mornings, between 10 and 12 o'clock.

Postgraduate Course.

A two months' Postgraduate Course is open to the graduates of this Training School. The course consists of two months' surgical work, or of two months' medical work, or of one month each of medical and surgical work, as the graduate prefers.

Students must provide themselves with the uniform of the School. They live outside the Hospital, pay no fee, and receive no pay for this course. Their hours of duty conform to those of the pupils of the School, and they act as assistants in the wards.

Those who wish to take this course should apply to the Superintendent of Nurses, and state definitely what experience they wish to have, and the time when they could most conveniently take the course.

During the summer months there would be more openings for graduates, but, so far as possible, appointments will be made to suit the convenience of the applicants.
